Dear Prof. Zimmermann

I wanted to thank you for a most interesting review, which I saw online at Med Sci Mon.

Liver regeneration: the emergence of new pathways]

It is almost 60 years since I worked on liver -- as a medical student looking for evidence of humoral control loops, so there was some nostalgic fulfillment in reading the account of your and others' contemporary work.

As my (unpublished) review in 1945 cited experimental references in the 19th Century (not to mention mythological allusions to Prometheus Bound), I did feel a strong sense of historical continuity.

My appreciation again,
